

We all have personal values, but a country can have values too.

British Values

British values

democracy

the rule of law

individual liberty

mutual respect

tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs

Democracy

Britain is a democracy - this means that the people in Britain vote for the people who make the laws and decide how the country is run. If we didn't have a democracy, just one person might be able to make all the laws and that would not be fair.

Democracy

At Springfield, the school council represent all your views and share these with the teachers and Mrs Bhardwaj. Everyone within our school has a voice that is listened to.

You complete questionnaires to state your opinions on what you like about school, and what you would like to change.

The rule of the law

In Britain we have a police force who make sure people do not do the wrong thing and break the law - this means that we are safe.

The rule of the law

At Springfield, you are taught the school rules, and at the beginning of each year as a class, you create class rules.

Your teachers keep you safe and value all of you. They make sure you understand the reasons behind each of the rules the school has.

Individual Liberty

In Britain, as long as we do not break the law, we can live as we choose and have our own opinions about things.

Individual Liberty

At Springfield, you make your own choices in a safe environment, supported by your teachers.

You are taught about being safe on your computer and have lessons about how to keep yourself safe.

Your teachers and other adults in school help you learn how to manage your emotions.

Mutual Respect

We might not always agree with other people, but we try to show respect for their thoughts and feelings.

We can give respect to others and we can expect other people to show us respect.

Mutual Respect

At Springfield, we have high expectations for your behaviour and we want you all to achieve the best you possible can.

Pupils in our school are polite, kind and treat others respectfully.

You are all equally valued within our school.

Tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs

In Britain, we accept that other people might have different beliefs to ours and they may believe in different religions.

Tolerance of those of different faiths and beliefs

Springfield is a diverse school, that celebrates all our different faiths and cultures.

We encourage you to share your beliefs and experiences in class.

You learn about, and sometimes even visit the different places of worship within our community.

Being a British pupil at Springfield

We treat everybody equally

We understand right from wrong

We understand the consequences of our own actions

We listen to and respect other people's opinions and values

We try to help other people

We know that we are all special

We understand and respect the roles of people who may help us

We respect the culture and beliefs of others

Take a moment to think about how lucky you are to live in Britain, a country that has such strong values. You are also part of a school community that is teaching and supporting you, in becoming a valued British citizen.
